THE STRATEGIC PLANNING PROCESS

The strategic planning process began in September of 2011 as the International Education Committee entered into discussions of effective comprehensive internationalization.

A survey to be circulated among faculty and staff was developed at the end of the Spring 2012 term. The survey was sent to all faculty and staff and measured the degree of involvement in internationalization efforts at Ramapo College. 239 people responded, of whom 46% were teaching faculty and 54% were staff, administrators, or teaching faculty. 21 of these respondents participated in focus groups aimed in gaining more qualitative data on comprehensive internationalization efforts. Data from this survey was compiled and analyzed during the Fall 2012 term.

A second survey, this one for Ramapo College students, was designed in the Spring 2012 and Fall 2012 terms. The survey was sent to all students in the Spring 2013 term, and measured the international education background of each of the 378 respondents. Of that number, 27% were freshmen, 23% were sophomores, 22% were juniors, 23% were seniors, and 5% were “super seniors.” 14% of respondents studied in

GLOSSARY OF KEY IDEAS AND DEFINITIONS

ATTRITION

The reduction in size of a designated group (i.e. 2012 incoming class) over a designated period of time (i.e. academic year).

CO-CURRICULAR

Being outside but usually complementing the regular curriculum. (Merriam Webster Dictionary)

COMPREHENSIVE INTERNATIONALIZATION

A commitment, confirmed through action, to infuse international and comparative perspectives throughout the teaching, research and service missions of higher education. It shapes institutional ethos and values and touches the entire higher education enterprise. It is essential that it be embraced by institutional leadership, governance, faculty, students and all academic service and support units. It is an institutional imperative, not just a desirable possibility.

Comprehensive internationalization not only impacts all of campus life but the institution's external frames of reference, partnerships, and relations. The global reconfiguration of economies, systems of trade, research, and communication, and the impact of global forces on local life, dramatically expand the need for comprehensive internationalization and the motivations and purposes driving it. (Hudzick, 2011)

EXPERIENTIAL EDUCATION

Experiential education is a philosophy that informs many methodologies in which educators purposefully engage with learners in direct experience and focused reflection in order to increase knowledge, develop skills, clarify values, and develop people's capacity to contribute to their communities. (Association for Experiential Education)

GLOBAL CITIZENS

Global citizenship is an umbrella term for the social, political, environmental, or economic actions of globally minded individuals and communities on a worldwide scale. The term refers to the belief that, rather than actors affecting isolated societies, individuals are members of multiple, diverse, local and non-local networks. Global citizenship is an interdisciplinary lens through which to analyze the history and development of our changing world. Although there is no standard definition of global citizenship, there are common topics that guide conversations in the field. (United Nations Academic Impact Hub Global Citizenship)

GLOBAL COMPETENCIES

"Having an open mind while actively seeking to understand cultural norms and expectations of others, and leveraging this gained knowledge to interact, communicate and work effectively in diverse environments." (Hunter, 2004)

IDENTITY DEVELOPMENT

STRATEGIC PLAN FOR COMPREHENSIVE INTERNATIONALIZATION

The development of one's own conception and expression of their individuality or group affiliations over time.

INTERNATIONALIZATION

"Internationalization of higher education is the process of integrating an international/intercultural dimension into the teaching, research and service functions of the institution. This definition understands internationalization as a process, as a response to globalization...and as including both international and local elements." (Knight & de Wit, 1999)

INTERDISCIPLINARY

Involving two or more academic, scientific or artistic disciplines. (Merriam-Webster).

KEY POINT OF ENGAGEMENT (KPE)

A structured, high impact activity with substantive interaction with peers, faculty and staff; a common experience that deepens understanding of self and others; or an opportunity to connect in-class and out of class learning. (Ramapo College Website)
